

Phase/Step	Supporting Inputs	Source	Benefits and Challenges
Assess Opportunities for Robotic Process Automation – Process Analysis and Activity Selection	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Context diagrams</li> <li>Use Case Definition Documentation</li> <li>Decision Trees/Decision Matrices</li> <li>Business Rules Documentation</li> </ul>	Requirements/Business Analysis Team	Benefits <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Provide the RPA Implementation Team with business and process context</li> <li>Help eliminate those processes with too many exceptions</li> </ul> Challenges <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>The documentation may be too high-level</li> <li>Some of the decisions and business rules may be hardcoded in the existing legacy systems, with little or no documentation</li> <li>The types of decisions and judgment calls made by human operators may not be documented at all</li> </ul>
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>System User Guides</li> </ul>	Software Development Team	Benefits <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Provide the step-by-step instructions that system users follow to perform specific activities</li> </ul> Challenges <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>System User Guides are often obsolete, or are updated on an annual basis- long after new functionality has been deployed</li> <li>System User Guides describe only the activities performed in a given system, but do not cover the manual steps performed by human operators before or after using the system</li> </ul>
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Process Improvement (e.g., Lean Six Sigma SIPOC) Documentation and Plans</li> </ul>	Process Improvement Team	Benefits <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Provide the RPA Implementation Team with business and process context</li> <li>Help eliminate those processes that are slated for improvements in the near future</li> <li>Help eliminate those processes/activities with non-standard inputs</li> </ul> Challenges <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>The documentation may be too high-level</li> <li>The documentation captures a point-in-time view of the processes analyzed, and as such it may be obsolete</li> </ul>
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Business Capabilities Map</li> <li>Business Process Decomposition Models</li> <li>Business Process/Activity Description and Metadata (e.g., Owning Org Unit, Usage, Data Mappings, System Mappings, etc.)</li> <li>Process Flow Diagrams</li> </ul>	Business Architecture Team	Benefits <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Provide the RPA Implementation Team with business and process context</li> <li>Provide information both on manual and automated processes and activities</li> </ul> Challenges <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Help eliminate non-critical, too trivial, or rarely performed activities</li> </ul>

			<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Help eliminate those activities supported by systems undergoing change or slated for replacement</li> </ul> Challenges <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Not every organization invests in business architecture, and the client organization may not have a complete (or up-to-date) set of business architecture artifacts</li> </ul>
Develop Proof of Concept &amp; Run Pilot – Perform Detailed Activity Definition	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Process Improvement (e.g., Lean Six Sigma) Documentation</li> </ul>	Process Improvement Team	Benefits <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Provide a good starting point with regards to activity steps, inputs, outputs and users</li> </ul> Challenges <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The documentation may be too high-level</li> <li>• The documentation captures a point-in-time view of the processes analyzed, and as such it may be obsolete</li> </ul>
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Business and Functional Requirements</li> <li>• Use Case Definition Documentation</li> <li>• User Stories</li> <li>• Decision Trees/Decision Matrices</li> <li>• Business Rules Documentation</li> </ul>	Requirements/Business Analysis Team	Benefits <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Provide a detailed view of what the activity consists of, what it is supposed to achieve, what are the steps, decision points, decision details and/or applicable business rules, human stakeholders and supporting systems</li> </ul> Challenges <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The documentation may be too high-level</li> <li>• Some of the manual steps may have been missed</li> <li>• Some of the business rules may be hardcoded in the existing systems, and not documented separately</li> </ul>
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Business Process/Activity Description and Metadata (e.g., Owning Org Unit, Usage, Data Mappings, System Mappings, etc.)</li> <li>• Process Flow Diagrams</li> <li>• BPMN Models</li> </ul>	Business Architecture Team	Benefits <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Provide a detailed view of the steps, decision points, usage indicators, data processed, human stakeholders and supporting systems</li> <li>• BPMN models in particular can be extremely detailed and precise</li> </ul>

	Value Stream Models (and Metadata), together with dynamic rules-based routing maps and event/state worksheets[i]		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Dynamic rules-based routing maps and event/state worksheets can likewise be detailed and precise</li> </ul> Challenges <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Some of the manual steps may have been missed</li> <li>Some of the models may be obsolete, if the organization doesn't invest in maintaining them</li> <li>If the organization does not invest in business architecture, these artifacts may not exist at all</li> </ul>
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>System Event Logs</li> <li>System Performance Monitoring Tools</li> </ul>	Process Mining	Benefits <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Provide actual event data using the system logs</li> <li>Provide full traceability for a given user's activities while using the system</li> <li>Provide insight into under-performing processes</li> </ul> Challenges <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Manual steps and/or steps performed using devices that are not network-connected (e.g., phone, fax, copier, paper mail) are not logged into the system</li> <li>If, in order to perform an activity, the human operator has to use multiple systems, reconciling the data across systems can be extremely laborious and time-consuming</li> </ul>